ULI Alberta Design Tour 2024

Date: January 16, 2024

00:00:12> 00:00:15:	The ULI Alberta Design Tour is is an opportunity for
00:00:15> 00:00:18:	our members to learn about and be inspired by world
00:00:18> 00:00:21:	class developments in other North American cities.
00:00:21> 00:00:24:	It's also a great opportunity to network and and form
00:00:24> 00:00:26:	connections in the broader ULI community.
00:00:26> 00:00:29:	Previous design tours of visited cities of Chicago, Austin, Pittsburgh,
00:00:30> 00:00:33:	and Denver, providing attendees the opportunity to explore familiar cities
00:00:33> 00:00:36:	with a new perspective, or providing a reason to fly
00:00:36> 00:00:39:	to a place that perhaps you hadn't thought about visiting.
00:00:39> 00:00:43:	Yeah, I've attended the previous two design tours, those being
00:00:43> 00:00:45:	Pittsburgh in 2019 and Denver in 2023.
00:00:46> 00:00:48:	The design tours are a great way to see how
00:00:48> 00:00:51:	other jurisdictions tackle the same challenges we all face every
00:00:51> 00:00:53:	day in our work here in Calgary with real estate
00:00:53> 00:00:56:	development and land development, the problems are all the same,
00:00:56> 00:01:00:	but seeing how an entirely different jurisdiction approaches them, it
00:01:00> 00:01:03:	provides a really fresh perspective, a lot of unique insights
00:01:03> 00:01:05:	and opportunities to learn how they tackle it and plus
00:01:05> 00:01:06:	the overarching benefit.
00:01:06> 00:01:09:	It's an amazing networking opportunity where you really get to
00:01:09> 00:01:13:	know other professionals from the Calgary and Edmonton ULI chapters
00:01:13> 00:01:15:	and just bond with them over the a really fun
00:01:15> 00:01:16:	two or three day tour.

00:01:16> 00:01:20:	I've attended Austin, Chicago and Denver.
00:01:21> 00:01:24:	I think the best thing about the design tours are
00:01:24> 00:01:26:	not only that you get to see all of these
00:01:26> 00:01:28:	amazing projects in other cities.
00:01:28> 00:01:31:	You get a behind the scenes tour, but you get
00:01:31> 00:01:36:	to see it from other people's perspectives because you're constantly
00:01:36> 00:01:39:	talking about it with other people in attendance at the
00:01:39> 00:01:44:	design tour and you're thinking about its application to Calgary
00:01:44> 00:01:47:	and just getting that perspective is great.
00:01:47> 00:01:50:	Some highlights that come to mind from the tours I've
00:01:50> 00:01:54:	attended include being toured around the iconic Wolf Point riverfront
00:01:54> 00:01:57:	development in Chicago by Laura Heinz from the Heinz Development
00:01:57> 00:02:00:	Group, exploring the Cultural District and the PNC Tower in
00:02:00> 00:02:03:	Pittsburgh, and attending the ULI Colorado summer event and being
00:02:03> 00:02:07:	inspired by the McGregor Square Entertainment District in Denver.
00:02:07> 00:02:10:	With Pittsburgh, it was really interesting to see such a
00:02:10> 00:02:13:	long established historical city and their incremental approach.
00:02:13> 00:02:16:	They had such an amazing bones of a city to
00:02:16> 00:02:20:	begin with and to seeing incremental changes and approaches and
00:02:20> 00:02:23:	how that fed into their redevelopments and growth.
00:02:23> 00:02:26:	But I really like Denver given that it was so
00:02:26> 00:02:29:	similar to Calgary rapid growth and a lot of essentially
00:02:29> 00:02:32:	a blank slate brownfield areas that were just transforming in
00:02:32> 00:02:35:	such a short, succinct amount of time into these incredible,
00:02:36> 00:02:38:	incredible developments in neighbourhoods.
00:02:38> 00:02:40:	McGregor Square was probably my favorite that we visited and
00:02:40> 00:02:41:	toured.
00:02:41> 00:02:44:	We had the lead consultant from Stantec who was involved
00:02:44> 00:02:47:	in that project, tourists around, calling of all the highlights,
00:02:47> 00:02:51:	the challenges, everything that the project entailed from initial conception
00:02:51> 00:02:52:	to completion.
00:02:53> 00:02:54:	It was a it was an amazing experience to see
00:02:54> 00:02:57:	such a transformative development happen on what was essentially a
00:02:57> 00:02:59:	gravel parking lot only a few years earlier.

00:03:00> 00:03:04:	In Chicago, there was a tour of the Jackson, which
00:03:04> 00:03:09:	was we weren't doing in any rental development in Calgary
00:03:09> 00:03:10:	at the time.
00:03:10> 00:03:15:	And so the Jackson was a large rental development in
00:03:15> 00:03:20:	Chicago with all of the amenities that you can think
00:03:20> 00:03:20:	of.
00:03:20> 00:03:23:	So it was really interesting to see that when Calgary
00:03:24> 00:03:25:	wasn't there yet.
00:03:25> 00:03:28:	This year we've decided to hold the tour in June
00:03:28> 00:03:30:	before the schools break for the summer.
00:03:30> 00:03:33:	Attendees should plan to arrive in the destination city on
00:03:33> 00:03:37:	Wednesday, June the 5th and then we'll have an exciting
00:03:37> 00:03:39:	two day itinerary of tours over June 6th and 7th.
00:03:41> 00:03:44:	When selecting a location for the 2024 design tour, we
00:03:44> 00:03:47:	wanted to choose somewhere that has a vibrant development scene
00:03:47> 00:03:50:	and an active and engaged ULI District Council.
00:03:50> 00:03:54:	We're always interested in exploring cities that have parallels to
00:03:54> 00:03:57:	Calgary and Edmonton, and I'm really excited for what is
00:03:57> 00:03:59:	shaping up to be our best design tour yet.
00:03:59> 00:04:01:	I think it's a really interesting choice.
00:04:01> 00:04:04:	It's not somewhere I would have particularly gone to in
00:04:04> 00:04:06:	my personal life per SE, but I am excited to
00:04:06> 00:04:09:	see how they're tackling a lot of the issues we
00:04:09> 00:04:09:	face and it.
00:04:09> 00:04:12:	I like the fact that it's a very similar city
00:04:12> 00:04:15:	to Calgary, not only in scope and scale in a
00:04:15> 00:04:18:	lot of ways, but also in just regional setting and
00:04:18> 00:04:18:	climate.
00:04:19> 00:04:21:	It's it's not like we're going to a warm tropical
00:04:21> 00:04:23:	or sunbelt city where people can point to what they
00:04:23> 00:04:25:	do and say, well, we can't do that here because
00:04:25> 00:04:28:	we're a winter city these this place faces a lot
00:04:28> 00:04:31:	of the same climate challenges and environmental challenges that we
00:04:31> 00:04:31:	face.
00:04:31> 00:04:33:	So to see how they tackle those solutions.
00:04:34> 00:04:37:	I think it's great the parallels between Calgary and this
00:04:37> 00:04:37:	city.
00:04:38> 00:04:42:	It's they're both Olympic cities, they're both in proximity to
00:04:42> 00:04:43:	the mountains.

00:04:44> 00:04:48:	There's definitely some similarities between the two.
00:04:48> 00:04:49:	I'm really interested in going.
00:04:50> 00:04:53:	And the 2024 design tour destination is.
00:04:53> 00:04:56:	And the 2024 design tour destination is.
00:04:57> 00:05:25:	And the 2024 design tour destination is definitely consider attending
00:05:26> 00:05:27:	it.
00:05:27> 00:05:29:	It's not only an amazing opportunity to tour and see
00:05:29> 00:05:32:	somewhere new that perhaps you wouldn't have considered going to
00:05:32> 00:05:35:	before, but it also is just a great opportunity to
00:05:35> 00:05:37:	network and get to know a lot of your fellow
00:05:37> 00:05:40:	city building professionals here in the Calgary and Edmonton region.
00:05:40> 00:05:42:	You should really attend.
00:05:42> 00:05:45:	It's a great set of people that usually gets together
00:05:45> 00:05:48:	and people from a variety of backgrounds.
00:05:48> 00:05:53:	And so that conversation that goes on between land developer,
00:05:53> 00:05:57:	someone who may be working at the city and consultants
00:05:57> 00:05:59:	is really an interesting conversation.
00:05:59> 00:06:03:	And the best conversations arise when we're touring a development
00:06:03> 00:06:06:	and we're asking questions from different perspectives.
00:06:06> 00:06:08:	If you want to get more value from your ULI
00:06:08> 00:06:12:	membership, connect with other members, learn about some cool development
00:06:12> 00:06:15:	projects, be inspired, and have a ton of fun, I'd
00:06:15> 00:06:16:	encourage you to attend.
